

Brush Arbor Unplugged

Brush Arbor is back doing concerts; well sorta. Lead singer/song writer Jim Rice, along with guitarist/singer Mike Wilson and guest fiddle/mandolin/singer Lauren Donahue, are performing again in an unplugged fashion bringing only their acoustic instruments, great songs, harmonies, and stories that always kept audiences coming back for decades. After thousands of concerts as the Academy of Country Music Awards recipient Brush Arbor, Jim and Mike are now appearing in the more intimate settings, a little closer to home.

Acoustic music (guitars, banjo, dobro, harmonica, fiddle, mandolin) and the voices of Jim Rice, Mike, and Lauren, singing their songs of inspiration and encouragement, intertwined with stories of laughter and upbeat messages, make these long time recording artists a breath of fresh air and cold water to parched lips. Their music and message of hope continues to encourage and entertain those in need of some whole-some and positive reinforcement for the soul. They have entertained hundreds of thousands and still encourage many through their recordings, books, and concerts.
