

Wait for the End

Psalm 52

The wicked may prosper for a moment, in the end their sorrows will multiply, the bill comes due. At times, we see their destruction early, when God gives them a taste of the harvest they have sown. We see it in the consequences of their actions – the brokenness, pain, and loss wrought by sin. This is a severe mercy, a kindness from God that is meant to lead the wicked (and us) to repentance.
